Baby laughs are the best laughs.

There's nothing like watching a baby delight in a game of peek-a-boo. Baby laughs are wild and free, generous and completely without self-consciousness.

Toddler laughs are pretty great too. When a toddler laughs at an incomprehensible joke or a very perky chicken, all is right with the world. You can't help but smile.

Then again, big kid laughs are a treat. A laugh is an invitation into the best part of their world.

So really, we just love it when kids let go and laugh.

We know that kids have plenty of things to worry about these days. Anxiety among children (and adults) may be at an all time high. No matter what else happens, we'd like to offer a little gift to 2020. Let's make this the year of the laugh. We're committed to inspiring discovery and delight in toddlers through ten-year-olds. This year, we want to get them laughing and loving what they're reading. From joke books to funny beginning readers, Xist is committed to offering an escape from the news, the lock down drill, and the things that threaten to steal the joy out of childhood.

We hope you'll join us and laugh alongside us.

Keep Reading,

In a dusty little town, a traveling couple look for a room for the night...

In Mary and Joseph in Bethlehem, the Christmas story comes alive in rhyming text and beautiful illustrations. A lovely addition to a Christmas story collection, this book features details that will make it especially of interest to Orthodox Christian audiences. Join angels, shepherds, wise men and more as they rejoice the coming of the newborn king!

*"There is no room," the owner said,
 "You must look elsewhere for a bed."
 But seeing Mary, weak yet brave,
 He offered them the hotel's cave.*

Let's Go Camping, Little Hoo!

It's time for the Hoo family to go on their annual camping trip, but Little Hoo is a little bit nervous. From setting up a tent, to cooking dinner over the fire, to sleeping with spooky noises, camping has a lot of new things for Little Hoo to experience. With characteristic gentleness, this book takes little ones along with Little Hoo on an adventure that eventually turns out to be a fun, and not scary, time.

If you could pick a pup, what pup would you pick? Who would you have to ask to pick a pup? In this book, a girl asks her mom and her dad if she can pick a pup. In this charming beginning reader, a biracial family sets out to adopt a dog. Even though their daughter doesn't know it yet, mom and dad have already decided a new pet will soon be part of their family. Simple sentences like, "I wanted to pick a pup." and "I asked my dad, "Can I pick a pup?"" use repetition to reinforce learning. A familiar situation of a child asking both parents (and hearing them both respond with encouragement to ask the other parent) will have both kids and adults smiling in recognition.

Series: Candy School
Author: Katrina Streza

Meet Sam and Danny, two boys who discover that learning can be both fun and tasty when paired with candy. In each beginning chapter book, Mr. Candor's Candy Shop is a place where treats can be purchased (with a little math, of course) and discoveries made about school assignments, friendship, and what it means to learn.

When two siblings have to spend the afternoon at a weird neighbor's house, there's nothing to do, except listen to a story. While Johanna and Casper wait for their mother to visit their ailing father at the hospital, Mrs. Kinder reads them a story of adventure, magic and music.

Mrs. Kinder's mysterious golden book tells an intertwined tale of two young men—a sensitive sculptor who carves a beautiful woman from ice, and a thieving sorcerer searching for a spell that will bring the statue to life.

When your average, 16-year old loser, Scott Tyler, meets the beautiful and mysterious Aubrey Jones, he learns he's not so average after all. He's a 'Shifter'. And that means he has the power to undo any decision he's ever made.

That's why he's so important to ARES, the secret government agency that regulates other kids like him: Shifters.

Scott's decisions have global consequences in this exciting trilogy from Kim Curran.
